Introduction

The 2024 edition of Crime in South Carolina seeks to publish non-biased crime statistics and trends as well as provide crime data at the county level for the most recent year available. The data presented here is collected by South Carolina's Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) program for the purpose of law enforcement administration, operation, and management. This publication aims to provide a complete and reliable picture of crime in South Carolina to better inform policymakers, criminal justice practitioners, researchers, and the public.

The first half of Crime in South Carolina is comprised of a comprehensive analysis of detailed incident data for nineteen Group A offense categories, encompassing a total of thirty offenses and emphasizing the eight index offenses of murder, sexual battery, robbery, aggravated assault, breaking and entering, motor vehicle theft, larceny, and arson. The first four index offenses are categorized under violent crime, and the latter under property crime. The rest of the Group A offenses are presented based on their classification as Crime Against Persons, Crime Against Property, or Crime Against Society. The second half of this publication displays arrest data representing fifty-one Group A offenses in addition to nine lesser Group B offenses for which only arrest data is collected. Additional chapters provide insight into the prevalence of family and intimate violence in South Carolina as well as Law Enforcement Officers Killed and Assaulted (LEOKA).

All data is based on the incident and arrest reports submitted monthly by state and local law enforcement agencies to the South Carolina Law Enforcement Division (SLED). All law enforcement agencies are mandated under South Carolina's Code of Laws to report to SLED all criminal data and related information within their respective jurisdictions (S.C. Code Ann. § 23-3-120, S.C. Code of Reg. 73-30)<sup>1</sup>. SLED maintains these records in a repository contracted through Beyond 20/20. SLED's South Carolina Incident-Based Reporting System (SCIBRS) unit frequently performs quality assurance reviews on all submitted reports to ensure the accuracy, consistency, and completeness of the data. If needed, these reports are then amended or corrected. It is important to note that the information contained in this report is only as complete and accurate as the information submitted to SLED. Accordingly, unreported crimes are not included.

Edits, updates, and corrections can be submitted to SLED at any time, providing agencies with the opportunity to report as thoroughly and accurately as possible. As a result, rates and totals for a specific year can vary from previously published totals for that same year. Any data published and represented here supersedes those published in previous reports. The data used for this report is current as of April 10, 2025.

Lastly, the definitions of specific crimes listed in this publication are derived from the FBI's UCR manual; they may or may not match those found in legal statutes or ordinances.

History, SRS, And IBRS

As early as the 19th century, state and local municipalities have collected, analyzed, and used crime data to inform decisions; however, a lack of standardized crime definitions and collection methods, combined with minimal participation among agencies, resulted in an incomplete picture of crime and did not allow for reliable comparisons between jurisdictions. Attempting to resolve these issues, the United States Congress created the Department of Justice (DOJ) in 1870 and mandated the reporting of annual crime statistics<sup>2</sup>. Unfortunately, it would still be many more decades before uniform crime reporting (UCR) would be implemented meaningfully.

“The lack of a rational, comprehensive system of criminal statistics in the United States is one of the worst evidences to condemn us in the eyes of the scientific world...it is at the same time probably the most pervading fault in our public organization to combat crime.”

-William T. Cross, Statistics of Crime, Journal of Criminal Law and Criminology, 1917<sup>7</sup>

Concentration on UCR intensified in the 20th century when the International Association of Chiefs of Police (IACP) established the Committee on Uniform Crime Records in 1927. The goal of this committee was to create a system responsible for providing unified, reliable, and systemic data for crime in the United States. The committee’s idea was to use standardized definitions for the seven most common serious offenses (murder, rape, robbery, aggravated assault, burglary/breaking or entering, larceny, and motor vehicle theft)<sup>1,3,4</sup>.

On June 11, 1930, at the recommendation of the IACP, Congress mandated that the Federal Bureau of Investigations (FBI) collect, compile, and distribute crime records<sup>2</sup>. The primary purpose of the FBI UCR Program was to provide a common language for the different criminal statutes among states and provide a nationwide view of crime based on the cooperative statistical effort of law enforcement agencies at all levels. The initial data collection method adopted from the IACP was known as the Summary Reporting System (SRS). SRS collected information on eight index offenses, adding arson to the list created by the Committee on Uniform Crime Records, as well as arrest data for an additional twenty-eight offenses<sup>3</sup>.

Support and participation in the FBI UCR Program increased over the next several decades, with South Carolina initiating their reporting program in July 1973. As more agencies joined, many began recognizing the need for an enhanced reporting system. After a 3-year study sponsored by the Bureau of Justice Statistics (BJS) and the FBI that analyzed the effectiveness of crime statistics, the “Blueprint for the Future of the Uniform Crime Reporting Program” (1985) defined guidelines for the development of a new reporting system that would allow for more efficient reporting with greater detail<sup>5</sup>. In 1986, the FBI used those guidelines to create the National Incident-Based Reporting System (NIBRS)<sup>1,3</sup>.

NIBRS expanded on the previous SRS by requiring a higher degree of detail in reporting and transitioned from an offense to an incident-focused method of data collection. Whereas SRS collected only eight Part I crimes, NIBRS currently collects detailed data on 59 Group A offenses<sup>1</sup>. Additionally, the older Summary system allowed only the single most serious offense in an incident to be reported; any other offenses and the information associated with them were not collected. NIBRS allowed up to five separate Group A offenses to be reported in each incident, collecting data on the offense characteristics, property, victims, offenders, and arrestees associated with each crime. As of January 2017, NIBRS now allows the reporting of up to ten separate Group A offenses in each incident<sup>1,6</sup>.

A NIBRS pilot program was conducted in South Carolina in 1987 to finetune the new incident-based records management system, and at the 1988 National UCR Conference, the FBI was urged to adopt the program nationally<sup>3</sup>. In 1991, South Carolina became one of the first states to implement the incident-based reporting (IBR) system. The state's program was thereafter known as the South Carolina Incident-Based Reporting System (SCIBRS).

While enough data was being collected through the new system to allow for historical trend reporting, NIBRS data continued to be converted back to Summary for publication in Crime in South Carolina. The conversion of NIBRS data helped facilitate the comparison with the FBI's statistical crime publications—such as Crime in the United States—which converted all IBR data to Summary data. While the FBI UCR Program continued to operate the two reporting systems in tandem for years, in 2015, the FBI gave a deadline of January 1st, 2021, for all agencies to complete their transition to NIBRS to satisfy the need for more reliable national statistics<sup>5</sup>.

Crime in South Carolina 2024 will be the 12th edition to feature incident-based data exclusively. Because of the significant differences between Summary data and NIBRS data, any comparisons between the figures published here to those released in Summary publications, such as Crime in the United States or editions of Crime in South Carolina published prior to 2013, are strongly discouraged.

This publication is also the fifth edition of Crime in South Carolina in which the number of Breaking & Entering (B&E) crimes is calculated differently. Before the 2020 edition, this report used a counting methodology similar to the FBI's Crime in the United States publication, where one B&E was counted per incident, except where a hotel/motel or rental self-storage facility was broken into. In those incidents, the number of rooms/units was counted instead. Crime in South Carolina 2020 to 2024 follows the methodology used by the FBI's NIBRS publication, where only one B&E is counted per incident, regardless of location type. While all figures in this edition were calculated by applying the updated methodology, only the number of incidents is affected, not the number of arrests. Therefore, any comparison between the number of crimes for the B&E offense and the Property Crimes category published in this report to editions published prior to Crime in South Carolina 2020 is strongly discouraged. With the sunset of SRS at the end of 2020, this updated method for calculating B&E will help facilitate comparisons to future FBI NIBRS publications.

Lastly, Crime in South Carolina has remained virtually unchanged since it was first printed in 1973. From 1973 to 2012, several factors dictated the format and presentation of those early publications, factors that are no longer relevant. The previous 2020 edition represents the first significant revision of this publication since its inception, focusing mainly on stylistic modifications and textual revisions. The 2021 edition of Crime in South Carolina aimed to anticipate the needs and interests of agencies, policymakers, and the public by expanding the number of offenses included and providing a more detailed layout and consistent analysis. The 2024 edition built upon the expanded 2023 report by incorporating spatial analysis through maps and adding full-time law enforcement (FTLE) counts. This 2024 edition continues that pattern of expansion and transparency in crime trends with the addition of a Use of Force Participation section appended in the LEOKA chapter.

To better meet growing analytical needs and support more intelligence-led policing, SCIBRS encourages all stakeholders to complete the survey at the end of this report to provide our department with any feedback or recommendations they may have for consideration in future publications.

Theme Oriented Public Site (TOPS)

Criminologists, sociologists, legislators, municipal planners, the media, and students of criminal justice use the data collected by SLED's UCR program for varied research and planning purposes. In addition to accuracy, consistency, and completeness, timeliness and accessibility are dimensions of high-quality data and information. SLED has collaborated with Beyond 20/20 to augment Crime in South Carolina with a publicly available web-based extension to the SCIBRS repository, providing stakeholders with the most up-to-date and easily retrievable information. This extension, known as the "Theme Oriented Public Site," or TOPS, provides a visualization layer integrated directly with the SCIBRS repository. Users can search for dynamic crime information by jurisdiction, year, and category. Additionally, after passing quality assurance reviews, the information contained within TOPS is updated and made available throughout the year. TOPS is accessible at <https://beyond2020.sled.sc.gov/tops/>.

Crime Rates

Throughout this report, crimes are presented as either the total number of reported offenses or the rate of offenses per 10,000 units of the population. In this publication, the rate, or frequency, of an offense is calculated as the ratio of offense incident counts to the population multiplied by 10,000. Thus, the formula used to calculate the crime rate is:

$$\text{Crime Rate} = \frac{\text{Number of Crimes}}{\text{Population}} \times 10,000$$

Because it considers population size, the crime rate provides the most useful basis for comparing jurisdictions or other geographical groups over time. To better explain, if County X and County Y both experience thirty homicides in 2020, each county seems to have an equal prevalence of murders. This would be accurate if both areas had an equal population; however, population counts are not identical among the two jurisdictions. Suppose County X has 200,000 persons and County Y has 20,000; the mere count of murders in each area thus affords no context for evaluation or comparison between the two counties.

Conversely, by assessing the murder count against each county's population, the resulting rates reveal that County X has a murder rate of 1.5 murders per 10,000 units of population, and County Y has 15 murders per 10,000 units. Looking at murder in the context of each county's population allows us to draw conclusions about the comparative frequency of murder between the two jurisdictions. Despite both having thirty homicides in 2020, murder was ten times more prevalent in County Y.

Rates normalize vastly different population densities between areas, which, in turn, provides for fair comparisons. Likewise, normalization allows consistent trend analysis for specific jurisdictions or areas over different times and population densities. For example, if in 2020, the population of County X is 200,000 and there are 30 murders, but in 2021, the population increases to 320,000 and murders increase to 48, the murder rate is still 1.5 murders per 10,000 persons for both years. So, while the number of murders may have increased in County X, the overall prevalence of murders remained the same.

Clearance

Clearance rates provide a measure of the degree to which crimes are resolved. For UCR purposes, clearance indicates an arrest has been made, and the offender has been charged and turned over to the court for further prosecution. However, a crime may also be cleared by exceptional means preventing an arrest. The four elements that must exist for a crime to be exceptionally cleared include 1) the identity of at least one offender must be known, 2) sufficient probable cause has been developed to support the offender's arrest and prosecution, 3) the offender's exact location must be known, and 4) there is a reason outside of law enforcement's control which prevents the arrest (e.g., death of the offender). Clearance rates are calculated using the following formula:

$$\text{Clearance Rate} = \frac{\text{Number of Crimes Cleared by Arrest or Exceptional Means}}{\text{Count of Crimes Reported}}$$

Many variables – education, poverty, employment opportunities, history, culture, age distribution, and other characteristics – influence crime in an area. This publication provides rates based on the county population for individual county rates and state population for statewide rates. These rates do not account for the additional variables previously mentioned. It is not the intention of the authors, nor should anything be construed as intending to rank cities, towns, counties, or regions based on crime rates, the effectiveness of law enforcement agencies to deter or solve crime, or the propensity for crime within any age, sex, racial, or ethnic group. Any use of the data within this publication without factoring in other variables would provide an incomplete, simplistic analysis and false or misleading perceptions of the true nature of crime in South Carolina.

Additionally, demographic data (age, sex, race, and ethnicity) is shown for arrestees/offenders and victims to provide a more detailed analysis of each offense included in this report. Please note that the total for some categories of certain tables, charts, or graphs in this report may not total 100% due to rounding or the ability to submit multiple values for certain fields. The percent change in the rate per 10,000 inhabitants is calculated from unrounded rates not displayed in the tables.

Population Data

Crime in South Carolina obtains population data from the United States Census Bureau to calculate crime and clearance rates displayed throughout this publication. The Census Bureau's data is also seen in figures pertaining to state, county, race, sex, age, and Hispanic origin groups. Traditionally, it is the practice of the SLED SCIBRS unit to obtain the Census Population figures from the American Community Survey (ACS) or the Decennial Census corresponding to the year of the Crime in South Carolina publication. However, in an effort to publish earlier than previous years, the county populations for this edition were derived from data released by the Population Division of the U.S. Census Bureau in March 2025 in their 'Annual Estimates of the Resident Population for Counties in South Carolina.'

For sections displaying Census Race figures, the Census Bureau tallies responses based on the five categories defined in 1997 by the U.S. Office of Management and Budget (OMB),

- White - A person having origins in any of the original peoples of Europe, the Middle East, or North Africa. It includes people who indicate their race as "White" or report responses such as German, Irish, English, Italian, Lebanese, and Egyptian. The category also includes groups such as Polish, French, Iranian, Slavic, Cajun, Chaldean, etc.
- Black or African American (Black/AA) - A person having origins in any of the Black racial groups of Africa. It includes people who indicate their race as "Black or African American" or report responses such as African American, Jamaican, Haitian, Nigerian, Ethiopian, or Somali. The category also includes groups such as Ghanaian, South African, Barbadian, Kenyan, Liberian, Bahamian, etc.

- American Indian or Alaska Native (AIAN) - A person having origins in any of the original peoples of North and South America (including Central America) and who maintains tribal affiliation or community attachment. This category includes people who indicate their race as “American Indian or Alaska Native” or report responses such as Navajo Nation, Blackfeet Tribe, Mayan, Aztec, Native Village of Barrow Inupiat Traditional Government, or Nome Eskimo Community.
- Asian - A person having origins in any of the original peoples of the Far East, Southeast Asia, or the Indian subcontinent, including, for example, India, China, the Philippine Islands, Japan, Korea, or Vietnam.
- Native Hawaiian or Other Pacific Islander (NHOPI) - A person having origins in any of the original peoples of Hawaii, Guam, Samoa, or other Pacific Islands. It includes people who indicate their race as Native Hawaiian, Chamorro, Samoan, and Other Pacific Islander or provide other detailed Other Pacific Islander responses such as Palauan, Tahitian, Chuukese, Pohnpeian, Saipanese, Yapese, etc.

In addition to Race, participants can select from one of two categories of ethnic origin,

- Hispanic or Latino
- Not Hispanic or Latino.

The Census Bureau reports that respondents indicating a Hispanic or Latino origin are usually born or have ancestors from Spain, the Spanish-speaking countries of Central or South America, or another Spanish culture or origin. It is important to recognize that persons identifying as Hispanic or Latino can be of any race.

Lastly, ACS and Decennial survey results are based on self-reported data. Respondents can select from one of the five race categories or from a combination of those categories; there are 57 possible combinations; however, the information contained within the S.C. Repository is derived from reports submitted by Law Enforcement agencies throughout the state. The victim’s and suspect’s race may be identified by the victim or suspect or indicated through observations of the reporting officer.

Murder and Nonnegligent Manslaughter

South Carolina defines murder as the willful (nonnegligent) or intentional killing of one person by another. It includes deaths due to injuries received in a fight, argument, quarrel, assault, or during the commission of another crime. Suicides, traffic fatalities (including those involving DUI and Reckless Driving), fetal deaths, attempted murders, and accidental deaths are not classified as murder in terms of uniform crime reporting; therefore, they are not reflected in the data presented under this section. The classification of murder is based on the initial police investigation, not on the determination of a court, medical examiner, coroner, jury, or other judicial body.

Sexual Battery

Sexual battery is the penetration—no matter how slight—of the vagina or anus with any body part or object, including oral penetration by the sex organ of another person, without the consent of the victim. Based on this definition, sexual battery encompasses the crimes of rape, sodomy, and sexual assault with an object. The key element for all three of these sex offenses is the absence of consent. This includes situations where the victim cannot legally consent due to their age or mental/physical incapacity, whether temporary or permanent. The individual definitions for those crimes can be found in the Glossary.

Robbery

Robbery is the taking or attempted taking of anything of value from the care, custody, or control of another person by force or threat of force, by violence, or by putting the victim in fear of immediate harm. A key element of robbery that sets it apart from lesser offenses such as purse-snatching, pocket-picking, or burglary is the presence of a direct confrontation between the offender(s) and victim(s). For example, if during a purse-snatch, the offender uses force to overcome the active resistance of the victim, that offense is now classified as robbery.

Aggravated Assault

Aggravated assault is an unlawful attack by one person upon another where the offender uses a serious weapon, displays that weapon in a threatening manner, and/or the victim suffers apparent severe or aggravated bodily injury. A serious bodily injury may include broken bones, loss of teeth, possible internal injury, severe laceration, loss of consciousness, etc. A 'serious weapon' is defined as anything that could cause an injury that would typically require some form of medical attention. An injury does not need to result from an aggravated assault if a weapon is being used with the potential to cause a serious personal injury.

Motor Vehicle Theft

Motor vehicle theft is simply the stealing of a motor vehicle. A motor vehicle is defined as a self-propelled vehicle that runs on the surface of land that is not considered the proceeds of another crime. SLED's UCR Program classifies motor vehicles into the following categories: automobiles, buses, recreational vehicles, trucks, and other motor vehicles (motorcycles, snowmobiles, golf carts, etc.). Trains, boats, and farm equipment are not included in these property descriptions. Motor vehicle theft excludes the unauthorized temporary taking of motor vehicles by those having lawful access, such as in family situations or with chauffeurs. It also excludes carjackings, which are included under robbery since it involves a direct confrontation with the victim. One offense is counted for each stolen vehicle.

GROUP A OFFENSES

Group A Offenses

When reporting data to the SLED UCR Program via SCIBRS, law enforcement must classify the offenses within an incident as Group A or Group B offenses. SCIBRS requires differing levels of detail in reporting each offense type. For example, law enforcement must report both incident and arrest details for Group A, but only arrest data for Group B. Group A are considered the more severe crimes, such as the index offenses discussed in the previous chapter. When deciding whether a crime should be designated under Group A, SCIBRS developers looked at specific characteristics of the offense, such as its seriousness, frequency, nationwide prevalence, probability of law enforcement becoming aware of the crime, whether law enforcement would be the best channel to collect data on it, the statistical validity and usefulness of collecting data for that offense, and the SLED UCR Program's responsibility in making that crime data available to those with a legitimate interest in it. Because of the differing levels of detail required when reporting Group A versus Group B offenses, the remaining crimes presented and analyzed in this publication are divided into those two categories.

This chapter presents the incident-level details for eleven Group A offense categories, covering twenty-two of the fifty-nine Group A offenses. These offenses were chosen for inclusion in this report based on stakeholder interests and their prevalence in South Carolina.

Crimes Against Persons

Group A offenses can be organized into three categories: Crimes Against Persons, Crimes Against Property, and Crimes Against Society. Crimes Against Persons are offenses whose victims are always individuals. These include all assault, homicide, human trafficking, and sex offenses. For counting purposes, one offense is counted for each victim. Out of the eight index offenses already discussed, aggravated assault, murder, and sexual battery are classified as Crimes Against Persons. This section explores three other offenses that fall into this category: simple assault, intimidation, and criminal sexual contact.

Simple Assault

Simple assault is an unlawful physical attack by one person upon another in which no serious weapon was used or displayed, and the victim did not sustain any serious bodily injury. If either of those elements does exist, the assault is considered an aggravated assault, not simple. Simple assault can include offenses such as minor assault, hazing, assault and battery, and any injury caused by culpable negligence.

Intimidation

Intimidation is to unlawfully place another person in reasonable fear of harm through threatening words or other conduct without displaying a dangerous weapon or subjecting the victim to an actual physical attack. If a weapon is present or the offender does attack the victim, it becomes an assault, not intimidation. This offense includes stalking, and any threats made in person, via phone, or in writing.

Criminal Sexual Contact

Criminal Sexual Contact is the touching of the private body parts of another for the purpose of sexual gratification without the consent of the victim. As with sexual battery, the absence of consent includes instances where the victim cannot give consent because of their age or mental/physical incapacity. This offense is an element of crimes such as rape, sodomy, or sexual assault with an object, and therefore cannot be reported separately for the same victim. However, in the absence of sexual penetration, a crime may fall under the category of criminal sexual contact.

This offense does not include any damage resulting from arson. Agencies are required to report a DDV offense regardless of the amount of damage but should not report insubstantial or minor damage, such as a broken window. What is considered minor damage is left up to the discretion of the law enforcement agency.

Counterfeiting/Forgery

Counterfeiting/Forgery includes the altering, copying, or imitating of something, without authority or right, with the intent to use what has been copied, altered, or imitated to deceive or defraud by passing it off as original or genuine. It also includes the selling, buying, or mere possession of an altered, copied, or imitated thing with the intent to deceive or defraud. A key element of this offense is the intent to deceive, so someone possessing counterfeit bills must know they are in possession of them and intend to use them for the crime to be coded as counterfeiting. Other examples of this offense include signing someone else's name on a document with the intent to defraud, possessing or manufacturing a counterfeiting apparatus, selling goods with altered trademarks, forged checks, etc.

Embezzlement

Embezzlement is defined as the unauthorized or unlawful use of funds, property, or something of value entrusted to the offender's care, custody, or control for their own use or purpose. An essential element of this offense is the presence of an employer/employee or legal agent relationship, so typically the victims of embezzlement are businesses. The South Carolina state statute regarding this offense only considers embezzlement to be the misappropriation of public funds, but the SCIBRS definition of embezzlement, derived from the FBI's UCR definitions, encompasses anything of value.

Fraud Offenses

SCIBRS defines fraud as the intentional misrepresentation of the truth to deceive another person or entity reliant on that information to part with something of value or surrender a legal right. A critical element that separates fraud from larceny is deceit. So, if theft is accomplished via deceit or lying, it is considered fraud. Fraud involves the offender receiving a benefit or the victim incurring a detriment. This benefit or detriment can be tangible or intangible, such as someone impersonating another to obtain money (tangible) versus gaining access to a restricted area (intangible). In this publication, fraud offenses include crimes of false pretenses/swindling/confidence games, credit card/ATM fraud, impersonation, welfare fraud, wire fraud, and identity theft (See Glossary).

Prostitution Offenses

SCIBRS prostitution offenses are divided into three categories: Prostitution, assisting or promoting prostitution, and purchasing prostitution. Prostitution is defined as engaging in commercial sex acts for anything of value, while purchasing prostitution is the purchase or trade of anything valuable in return for sex acts. Assisting/promoting prostitution is to solicit customers or transport people for prostitution purposes or any activity that could be considered the assisting or promoting of prostitution. This includes the owning, operating, or managing of an establishment for the purpose of providing a place where prostitution is performed. These crimes are not sex-specific, so offenders can be male or female.

Gambling Offenses

Gambling is to unlawfully bet or wager money or something else of value; assist, promote, or operate a game of chance for money or some other stake; possess or transmit wagering information; manufacture, sell, purchase, possess, or transport gambling equipment, devices, or goods; or tamper with the outcome of a sporting event or contest to gain a gambling advantage. Gambling is a unique category of offenses in that it depends on the violation of locally established statutes. So, in places where gambling is legal, it is only reported if something violates the statutes of the jurisdiction in question. In this report, the gambling category encompasses the four offenses of betting/wagering, operating/promoting/assisting gambling, gambling equipment violations, and sports tampering (See Glossary for individual offense definitions).

GROUP A ARRESTS

Group A Arrests

The previous sections analyzed the incident-level details for South Carolina’s eight index offenses and eleven Group A offense categories. This chapter focuses on arrest details for all Group A offense categories for which SCIBRS has quantitatively reliable data, representing fifty-one of the fifty-nine Group A offenses. Arrest counts provide a measure of law enforcement’s response to crime, while arrest rates estimate crime prevalence. The arrest counts are displayed in the following tables and charts, and arrest rates can be found in the ‘Arrests by County’ tables that follow the Group B Arrests chapter. It is important to note that arrest policies and procedures can vary between agencies and communities. However, the policies for crimes such as robbery, burglary, and other severe Group A arrests are more likely to remain uniform and consistent throughout all jurisdictions. In addition, UCR procedures require that an arrest be counted on each separate occasion a person is taken into custody, notified, or cited; thus, annual arrest figures do not measure the number of individuals arrested, but the total number of arrests made, since one person may be apprehended, notified, or cited several times over the course of a given year for the same or different offense(s).

Until July 1, 2019, state law set the age of adult responsibility at seventeen years of age in most criminal matters. Therefore, the adult arrest totals in previous editions were calculated based on the adult age (17 and older) at that time. For subsequent editions of Crime in South Carolina, the current definition of an adult (18 and older) is used. Due to this change, comparisons of juvenile arrest data to those published in editions before 2019 are discouraged.

GROUP B OFFENSES

Group B Offenses

When reporting data to the SLED UCR Program via SCIBRS, law enforcement agencies report both incident and arrest data for Group A offenses but only arrest data for Group B offenses, which tend to be minor compared to Group A. Arrest practices and policies for the offenses presented in this section likely differ between agencies. In contrast, methods for the more severe Group A offenses are likely more uniform and consistent throughout all jurisdictions. As seen in the previous chapter, UCR procedures require that an arrest be counted on each separate occasion when a person is taken into custody, notified, or cited, reflecting the total number of arrests made, not the number of individuals arrested. While incident details are not provided for Group B offenses, arrest counts can still give a valuable picture of crime in South Carolina by providing a measure of law enforcement's response to crime. Arrest rates offer estimates of criminal offenses such as liquor law violations or driving under the influence of which no victims are likely to report the behavior. The arrest counts are displayed in the following tables and charts, and arrest rates can be found in the 'Arrests by County' tables at the end of this chapter.

In total, there are 15 Group B offenses, which encompass all offenses not considered to be Group A. For this year's Crime in South Carolina publication, the arrest data for the following nine Group B offenses will be presented and analyzed: Contributing to the delinquency of a minor, disorderly conduct, driving under the influence, drunkenness, nonviolent family offenses, alcohol/liquor law violations, peeping tom, resisting arrest, and trespass of real property. The SCIBRS definitions for these crimes are covered in the Glossary.

Family and Intimate Violence

This section examines murder, aggravated assault, simple assault, and intimidation involving victims and offenders who have either a familial or intimate relationship with one another. The victim-to-offender relationship might best be understood as describing who the victim of the assault was. For example, if the victim-to-offender link is “child,” then the victim was the child, and the offender was a parent.

Familial relationships are defined here as child, stepchild, grandchild, sibling (brother or sister), stepsibling, parent, stepparent, grandparent, in-law, and other family members.

Intimate relationships include spouse, ex-spouse, common-law spouse, cohabitants, ex-cohabitants, child-in-common, boyfriend/girlfriend, and ex-boyfriend/ex-girlfriend.

This data is captured by reporting the relationship existing between the victim(s) and each offender involved in the incident. When an incident has multiple offenders, individual victims will be reported with various relationship types. Because an individual victim may be reported with various relationship types, any single victim could contribute to the number of victims for more than one relationship category. For example, suppose a victim was the child of one offender and the sibling of another. In that case, that victim will contribute both to the number of victims who were children of an offender and to the number of victims who were siblings of an offender. Because individual victims appear in multiple relationship types, the percentages in the tables that follow may add up to more than 100% of total victims.

In January 2017, SCIBRS began collecting cohabitants, ex-cohabitants, and child-in-common victim-to-offender relationships at the recommendation of the South Carolina Domestic Violence Task Force.

Also in January 2017, SCIBRS followed a recommendation by the FBI and instructed contributing agencies that same-sex victim/offender pairs should be listed under the corresponding intimate victim-to-offender relationship category. Previously, these relationships would have been reported under a dedicated same-sex relationship value. Due to this change and frequent requests for domestic violence trends pertaining to same-sex relationships, the 2021, 2022, 2023 and 2024 editions of Crime in South Carolina include a breakdown of intimate partner violence by victim to offender sex.

Lastly, in January 2019, SCIBRS started to collect ex-boyfriend/girlfriend victim-to-offender relationships as a new requirement set by the FBI. The links described with these new values would have previously been reported to SCIBRS under the boyfriend/girlfriend victim-to-offender relationship. The boyfriend/girlfriend relationship remains available to report current dating relationships that are more than casual.

Intimate Violence by Victim to Offender Sex

Historically, all same-sex relationship pairs were categorized under a same-sex relationship value; however, in 2017, at the recommendation of the FBI, all intimate partner violence began to be classified under the corresponding relationship value that fit best regardless of victim and offender sex. However, to address the needs of concerned stakeholders, most notably the many domestic violence organizations that have reached out to SCIBRS, we have included a more in-depth breakdown of intimate partner violence that accounts for victim sex to offender sex. This also includes a five-year trend of intimate partner violence.

Full-Time Law Enforcement (FTLE) Counts

Each year, SLED's SCIBRS Unit gathers data on the number of full-time law enforcement (FTLE) personnel employed by law enforcement agencies (LEA) on behalf of the FBI's Uniform Crime Reporting (UCR) Program. Subsequently, the FBI publishes these counts on their publicly accessible Crime Data Explorer. The following statistics exclusively pertain to personnel whose salaries are funded solely from law enforcement resources. When referring to vacancies, we specifically consider the total number of vacant full-time Class I officer positions. For this collection, the FBI provides,

- Officer counts encompass all full-time, fully certified, Class I sworn personnel who possess full arrest powers, carry a weapon, and are compensated from law enforcement funds.
- Civilian counts encompass all full-time employees whose salary is derived from law enforcement funds but do not meet the criteria for Class I officers, as defined above. Civilians include dispatchers, clerks, meter attendants, correctional officers, detention center employees, Class III officers, and other personnel not Class I certified.

The FTLE counts serve to ensure accurate representation of each South Carolina LEA, facilitate data processing and inclusion in annual FBI publications, and contribute to the National Use of Force data collection and its associated data publications. Additionally, this data empowers law enforcement agencies, researchers, and the public with insights into the composition of LE personnel to foster a better understanding of an agency's workforce dynamics.

Full-Time Law Enforcement (FTLE) Counts 2024

The total number of law enforcement personnel increased by 1.6% from 2023 to 2024. This overall growth included a 2.9% increase in sworn officers, while the number of civilian employees declined by 2.6%. Additionally, the total number of vacancies decreased slightly by 0.6% over the same period.

Use of Force Data Collection

Law enforcement's use of force has long been a topic of public interest and professional scrutiny, often brought to the forefront by high-profile incidents. To address the historical lack of consistent data on these events, the FBI established the National Use of Force Data Collection, enabling law enforcement agencies across the country to report qualifying use of force incidents based on standardized criteria. This national framework improves transparency and allows citizens, researchers, law enforcement agencies, and policymakers to analyze use of force trends using reliable, comparable data.

The FBI defines a reportable use of force incident as one in which:

1. A fatality occurs as a result of a law enforcement officer's use of force;
2. Serious bodily injury occurs as a result of a law enforcement officer's use of force; or
3. A firearm is discharged at or in the direction of a person by a law enforcement officer.

The data collection defines "serious bodily injury" based on 18 U.S. Code § 2246(4), which describes it as involving a substantial risk of death, unconsciousness, protracted and obvious disfigurement, or the long-term loss or impairment of the function of a bodily member, organ, or mental faculty.

When a qualifying incident occurs, the involved agency must report it to the FBI's Use of Force Data Collection Portal or submit it through the South Carolina State UCR Program at UseofForce@sled.sc.gov. Agencies must also submit a Zero Report for any month in which no qualifying incidents occur. To be considered fully compliant, an agency must submit either an incident or a Zero Report for all 12 months of the year.

Participation in the FBI's Use of Force Data Collection is voluntary and not mandated by South Carolina law. However, compliance with this program is important. Compliance does affect eligibility for federal grant funding and plays a role in achieving and maintaining national and state accreditation standards.

The infographic on the following page highlights South Carolina agencies that achieved full compliance for the most recent reporting year. Please note that more agencies are eligible to participate in the Use of Force program than in SCIBRS.

In future publications, we hope to provide a more in-depth analysis of use of force trends across South Carolina. As a valued stakeholder, we invite you to submit suggestions regarding this publication or the FBI's Use of Force Data Collection using the feedback survey at the end of this report..

2024 Law Enforcement Agencies Participating in Use of Force

Of the 288 South Carolina law enforcement agencies eligible to report to the Use of Force Data Collection, 204 submitted reports for all 12 months of 2024—representing 71% full compliance. These agencies are highlighted in blue below. The remaining 84 agencies missed one or more monthly submissions. Based on full-time officer counts reported to SCIBRS, compliant agencies account for an estimated 77% of South Carolina’s sworn Class I law enforcement officers. Additionally, based on SLED and U.S. Census estimates, the 2024 Use of Force data covers approximately 82% of the state’s population.

INDEX CRIMES BY COUNTY

Index Crimes by County

The following tables display raw data for the number of crimes in SC's eight index offense categories for 2023 and 2024. The data shows county totals and then breaks down each county by law enforcement agency. This information is not intended and should not be used to rank counties or agencies by crime level or response to crime. This is raw data, and any conclusions drawn from these tables should consider other factors that may influence crime in an area, such as education, poverty, employment opportunities, history, culture, age distribution, etc. Population should also be considered before accurate comparisons between or within jurisdictions can be made. Agencies designated as not fully compliant with SCIBRS for 2024 are represented in grey text. The data for those agencies, while incomplete, is still represented here for full transparency.
